Dear Friends – the wonderful Junior School Learners at Radford College!

You have your devices...
Your teachers are ready...
You know how to inquire, read, write, embrace challenges...

This will be an experience where we grow and share in different ways, though still connected. Your class teachers and specialist teachers are excited about sharing learning with you. Some of you might be at home and some of you might still come to school. In either space, we will continue to learn.

You can know that:

We will make contact with you every school day.
What you need to learn and do will be clear.
We will guide you through video, through online learning... all the way to things that aren't online. We want you to spend lots of time using your hands, your creativity and your body to engage with learning, like you would on a normal school day.

There are some things we need you to do:

Please have the Remote Learning Guide close by.
If asked, update your iPad.
Make sure you have your iPad and charger at home.

Your teachers will help you to bring home:

A blank work book/exercise book
Students' individual stationery kits
THRASS desk charts
Other resources that are likely to be used frequently (e.g. hundreds chart, number line etc.). Please consider keeping resources to a manageable quantity.

In the coming days I will send you home a link to a Head of Junior School Sway page where I will put activities, jokes, comics and stories that I would normally share if I came into your class or saw you at Celebration.

If you have any questions please let your teacher know.

Always remember that who you are and how you treat the people around you is as important as what you know.

As Buzz Lightyear would say, "to infinity and beyond" in our learning.

Mr Gordon, Ms Mahar and all of your teachers
